DAYGALLERY

the BIG
& the SMALL
of it

Rachel Hannan

This collection of work is all very recent.

Flowers from my garden, friends and collected and observed from my local surroundings, gathered with objects from around my home were all painted from life. The favourite places I visit to feel alive and free were painted after many walks and picnics in the transformed landscape after the fires and rains.

After the bewildering accumulation of events in 2020, I felt very fortunate to be living where I do and surrounded by the people I love. These paintings contain tiny, delicate beauties like the pink flannel flowers (Actinotus forsythii) and Christmas Bells (Blandfordia grandiflora) that miraculously bloomed after so much devastation had ravaged the vast wilderness of the monumental mountains and canyons, covering the newly bare landscape with their rarely seen colours.

The big and the small of it, the balance of all things.
